Participating Contractors List

JUNE 1, 2009

Financing is available for SMUD customers installing qualified equipment by a licensed contractor.

Contractors on this list are independent business owners who have agreed to install equipment according to SMUD specifications.

SMUD does not endorse any specific contractor, nor does SMUD guarantee the quality of a contractor's work or provide any warranty on the work or products purchased from the contractor.

SMUD encourages customers to:

- Request bids from more than one contractor when considering equipment replacement.
- Ask potential contractors for references from prior customers and check them.
- Visit the State of California Contractor's State License Board website (www.cslb.ca.gov) to verify that each contractor you are considering is properly licensed.

If you ever have a concern about your equipment:

- Check your equipment and installation warranty information.
- Call the installing contractor, or any dealer qualified to work on your brand of equipment.

CALIFORNIA ENERGY COMMISSION1516 Ninth Street
Sacramento, California 95814Main website: www.energy.ca.govLETTER TO HOMEOWNERS:*NEW DUCT SEALING REQUIREMENTS - YOU WILL BENEFIT

Beginning October 1, 2005, you must have your home's ducts tested for leaks when you have a central air conditioner or furnace installed or replaced. Ducts that leak 15 percent or more must be repaired to reduce the leaks. After your contractor tests and fixes the ducts, you choose whether to have an approved third-party field verifier check to make sure the duct testing and sealing was done properly or to have your house included in a random sample where one in seven duct systems are checked.

Duct sealing is not required in the following situations: 1) when homes are in specific coastal climates; 2) when systems have less than 40 feet of ductwork in unconditioned spaces like attics, garages, crawlspaces, basements or outside the building, or 3) when ducts are constructed, insulated or sealed with asbestos. There also are specific alternatives that allow high efficiency equipment and added duct insulation to be installed instead of fixing duct leaks.

You also should know that any contractor failing to obtain a required building permit and failing to test and repair your ducts is violating the law and exposing you to additional costs and liability. Real estate law requires you to disclose to potential buyers and appraisers whether or not you obtained required permits for work done on your house. If you do not obtain a permit, you may be required to bring your home into compliance with code requirements for that work and you may have to pay penalty permit fees and fines prior to selling your home.

The greatest energy use in California homes is for central air conditioning and heating. Most homes with central air conditioning and heating systems have ducts that were never properly sealed. The average home's ducts leak around 30 percent of the conditioned air outside the home. These leaks are taking money straight out of your pocketbook. Properly sealed ducts will lower your energy bills, reduce pollution inside your home, and help to avoid a repeat of the inconvenience and health and safety risks that we suffered during the power blackouts in 2000.

For more information, please contact the Energy Commission Efficiency Hotline at (800) 772-3300, or visit our website at www.energy.ca.gov/title24/changeout.
