

Summer shift

Summer is here and so is our Summer rate period from June 1 through September 30. That means, you may want to consider - if feasible - making some adjustments to your schedule for equipment usage during the peak hours of the day from 4 to 9 p.m.

Here are some other ideas you can consider:

- To reduce energy use during peak hours, set the thermostat to pre-cool your offices during off-peak hours of the day.
- Raise thermostat levels* during the evening or shut off your thermostat, when your facility is not in use. **According to ENERGYSTAR, the most energy-efficient settings are between 72 and 78 degrees.*
- Install occupancy sensors indoor/outdoor to ensure lights are turned off when not in use. Remember to check timers on outside lighting to adjust to current sunrise/sunset time.

New energy bill estimator tool

To help you manage your energy bill, we've created a new estimator tool that will allow you to view and compare your energy bill on a monthly and annual basis. Log in or enroll at smud.org/MyAccount. •

Go electric in your multifamily property with incentives of more than $500,000

Thinking of making the switch from gas to electric at your multifamily property? Our Multifamily Program has incentives up to $562,500 available for cleaner, more efficient gas-to-electric conversions and associated upgrades, energy efficiency measures and electric vehicle charging stations for multifamily properties of 5 units or more.

If 50% or more of your tenants qualify for our Energy Assistance Program Rate (EAPR), additional equity incentives are available.

Our team is available to answer questions, assist you with the application process and offer technical support for your project. Visit smud.org/Multifamily to learn more. •
